THE JUSTICE OF IT.

The primary reason for the strike on was the discharge of employees of the road who were of that organization. The men had other complaints, but this was the chief impelling motive for the tie-up. that the Central was doing its best to frustrate workingmen in their attempts to

The sympathy of many people during this "tie-up" has been diverted from the strikers by the feeling that the Central has been kindly and considerate to its employees and paid them well.

That the Central has dealt with its men ployer should perhaps be allowed. But by Mr. Dapaw are not fett by the men as reason why they should suffer the Central to bully an organization which they have formed for their own protection.

They maintain they have a right to so organize, and who'll gainsay this? They ask justice, not charity nor coddling. When the baby cries the nurse gives it a sugar-tit and it is pacified. But the Knights are not babies and they want justice more than sweetness.

AH, ANEURIN JONES.

Mr. ANEURIN JONES is Superintendent of Prospect Park, in which capacity he has opposed the progress of the fine arts in this country by refusing to afford facilities to artists to paint there.

Now a worthy citizen of Brooklyn complains, that as he was walking quietly and peacefully in the Park, and as he approached the Litchfield mansion, ANEURIN Jones broke loose upon him and hurled him down a declivity of three feet. The reason for the assault is not given.

Mr. Jones is apparently stronger in his biceps than in his judgment, since he can knock a man out by using the former and latter. It looks as if ANEURIN JONES should be investigated.

THE EVENING WORLD'S Free Doctors' Fund for Sick Babies has reached the goodly sum of $5,700. It argues no lack of appreciation to say that twice that sum should be secured for this praiseworthy object. Every dollar is expended with results that are far in excess of its value, high dress. One charming feature about its contributions is that they are made by rich and poor, old and young, men, women and children. Good people, continue. It is a beautiful charity.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 12. - What an intolerable nuisance it is that writers for the last few centuries have made the phrase sleepy little village" so disgustingly backneyed. It was the very combination of words that I wanted in order to describe this resort would seem to be the finishing touch that of the chubby old Philadelphians, and now, of course, I can't use it, as there is nothing more believes nowadays than convention ality. I will therefore content myself with remarking that Cape May is a hamlet under the influence of angesthetics, and that if the tinue spoozing to their hearts'content without the slightest fear of being disturbed.

I had always heard a great deal about and brilliantly patronized watering-places in this country-a sort of American Trouville ; an Eastbourne, or Brighton a to Stars and Stripes. So I purchased a particularly fetching blazer, an ultra indolent white flaunel suit, and various other fascinating accessories, and went there. Even when one is idle or at rest, you know, it is a brutal sort of a sensation to feel unkempt, a week from the city's tumult,

Then again, I had had glowing descripions of the lovely nymphs, who, in absolutely bewildering bathing costumes, dash through the breakers, and smile at you through a tangled mass of sun-kissed, wavewashed bair. A watering-place always sounds so delightful in a novel, and I can't think why. Thank goodness ! I have my own little private Cape May experience to guide me in the future.

I don't believe that I had been here for forty-eight hours before the conclusion had been forced upon me that the beauteous nymphs with the sun-kissed hair are positive myths. I marched around the beach during the entire bathing time and couldn't find them. The Philadelphia beauties content themselves with the simple blue-flannel bloomer costumes provided by the proprietors of the bath-houses, and these, I need hardly say, are not elegant. As for dashing through the breakers. I must say that I never saw the sanctity of a solitary breaker invaded. It has always been our aim to sell a thoroughly honest stricle at a low price; in fact, a successful business can be established in no other way. For this mason we have gained the confidence of the public, and we are proud of it. Another rule will us is never to carry a stock over from one season to another. Soomer or later it must be sacrificed. And this explains our present sale of superb English Quartered Oak Bedroom Suits at Soil. Elsewhere these beautiful goods would cost the burge #2.5. Of course those are very rare and unusual bargains. We have also noticed when we have a sale of this kind that our friends expect a corresponding reduction in our Parlor Suit Department. We have
